

Michelle Tarquino

Transportation Coordinator, Office of Governor Shapiro

Michelle Tarquino serves as the Transportation Coordinator for the Governor's Office of Transformation and Opportunity (OTO) under Governor Josh Shapiro. In this role, she helps improve Pennsylvania's economic competitiveness by streamlining government processes, reducing bureaucratic barriers, and advancing initiatives that support transportation goals and economic development.

Before joining OTO, Michelle built an extensive career with the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation (PennDOT), serving in both the Central Office and Engineering District 8-0 in a variety of leadership and transportation-focused roles.

With more than two decades of experience, Michelle has worked collaboratively with local and regional organizations, multi-state agencies, and federal and national partners to advance transportation initiatives and strengthen intergovernmental partnerships.
